We're located in a 100-year-old brick building in Cumming, Iowa – a small town just south of Des Moines. We see corn fields when we look out our front windows; not factories or city streets. The typical traffic along Cumming Avenue is tractors and farm equipment. We wouldn't want to be anywhere else.

At Iowa Distilling Company, we aim to bring distilling back to its roots on the farm. Farming goes back generations in our families. We know corn and we know Iowa's soil – we've been working with it for years. We know the farmers who grow our grain and the people at the local farmer's co-op who helps us load it into our truck. They are our friends and family, and we try to make them proud with every bottle that comes off our still.

Great Iowa company making a great Iowa product. Love the small town rural mindset of Iowa Distilling Company values. Refreshing to see the support in a world that is focused on quick and cheap. Go visit this distillery and you will see for yourself what a great place this is and see top notch people producing a top notch Iowa product. Support local small businesses!

Wonderful spirits! The decor and ambience is rustic and utilitarian. The menu is creative yet classic. The service is wonderful and the prices are just right. I highly recommend the Old Fashioned. Enjoy!

We'd drive 6 hours again just for this place!! Our bartender was incredible and gave us a great out-of-towner experience, making mini versions of the cocktails for us to try on top of the fabulous ones we were already drinking. Great atmosphere, the regulars there were super friendly and made for great conversation, and there were an endless amount of creative drinks for us to try! Definitely a memorable experience!
